

Music at KEVICC

offers opportunities for all

Music is an essential part of the KEVICC curriculum. From classroom lessons in Year 7, students can move on to take GCSE Music, and then A-level in the Sixth Form. They also have the option of taking BTEC Music – a more vocational option, which suits some students. Students recently delighted audiences at our Performing Arts Showcase – which was put on by Year 7 students who had only been in the College for four weeks; our Winter Concert and our wonderful annual Christmas Concert.

The Music Department have hired a set of stringed instruments this year and students are able to try out playing violins; violas; cellos and double basses.

We have a team of excellent visiting music teachers, who offer vocal and instrumental lessons on a very wide variety of instruments in the College. They also support students' GCSE, A-level and BTEC studies, as well as our concerts and shows.

We have exceptional music technology studios in which our students can study up to A level – last year we had a 100% pass rate at AS and A2. Students, including those who do not play an instrument, learn all about modern music production and the technology required to create it.

Our Theatre technician runs a club for students interested in learning to use the professional standard specialised sound and lighting equipment that we have, and these students are now confident enough to support events such as our Music Department Christmas Concert.

Students are offered very many performance opportunities, and the chance to take part in workshops with professional musicians who come to the College – this helps to develop their repertoire which, for those taking GCSE or A-level, is essential for the recital they need to perform as part of their course.
